Cummins Among Those At The Bier.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 8.—As he lived, so was Senator William B. Allison buried today, in a manner devoid of all ostentation. Simple services were held at the Allison residence, where the limited accommodations permitted only the presence of distinguished visitors, relatives, and a few of his most intimate friends. Rev. J. T. Bergen, a Presbyterian pastor, officiated and the internment was private. During the hours of the funeral ceremony not a wheel turned through the city and every business house closed its doors. Places hung at half mast from public buildings. There were many distinguished visitors in attendance.
Besides the members of the congressional committee there was a large delegation from Des Moines consisting of Governor Cummins and other state officers. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

ORGANIZED EFFORT TO EXTEND OPERA'S REALM

Management Of The Metropolitan At New York Will Start Campaign Of Education In Behalf Of Music Drama.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, Austria, Aug. 8.—Messrs. Gatti-Casazza, Dippel and Kahn met in conference this morning to discuss measures for increasing the influence and scope of the Metropolitan Opera of New York City in fostering operatic art and culture. A plan was adopted for making the Metropolitan the center of a national movement for extending opera throughout the United States. The plan is modeled after the university extension idea. One general object is to create a universal interest in operatic chorus singing.
Efforts in the United States chorus effort has confined itself exclusively to chorists. Now an organized effort is to be effected inviting general attention to the beauties and delights of operatic singing. Local musical societies are to be induced to study operatic songs suggested by an advisory council composed of competent authorities. Preparations for the performance of an opera may be carried as far as local talent and enthusiasm will permit. As far as possible the Metropolitan opera will, whenever requested, lend its cooperation by sending excellent soloists and furnishing whatever else may be requisite to enable a satisfactory performance. Communities that are favorably situated may want a whole evening including scenery the visiting cast comprising a small stock chorus of experts to act as leaders of the local chorus with which it is combined.
A National League of Metropolitan Opera clubs will carry the plan into operation. Lectures, illustrated by photographic records and stereoscopic slides picturing scenes from the operas, will be supplied to promote the organization of local clubs for the study and performance of the opera.
A museum and library is to be developed, possibly in connection with the New Theatre, for the collection of books, manuscripts, photographs, costumes, and whatever else may be helpful to the fullest obtainable information concerning opera in all its bearings. With it will be connected a bureau of information for the use of members of the National League of Metropolitan Opera Clubs.
Some of the beneficial ends which the managers of the Metropolitan opera expect to accomplish through the working of the educational enterprise are these: Greater number of people may become acquainted with the delights of opera, to the enrichment of their lives. A stimulus will be afforded to the idea of private and public endorsement of opera in many localities. A wide spread interest in opera will bring out original effort along operatic lines so that the numbers of American writers of librettos and composers of music will grow; and American artists may increasingly compete with the artists of other countries in winning honors in the field of operatic creation and interpretation. Incidentally the Metropolitan opera hopes to solve that troublesome problem of recruiting an intelligent chorus without having to depend upon going abroad in search of desirable material. Participation by lovers of music in the local opera choruses will no doubt develop an abundance of talent.

The chief thought behind the organization of the National League of Metropolitan opera clubs is that opera is the most efficient agency for spreading musical culture. The increase of the leisure hours of the working man in this country calls for a corresponding increase of desirable forms of amusement. For the welfare of society alone, if for no other reasons, music, because of the universality of its appeal, combined with drama, as it is, in opera, is best suited to be peculiarly calculated to get hold of the whole man, and while affording him pleasure and recreation, add at the same time to the sum of culture.

NEWS FORECAST OF THE COMING WEEK

William Jennings Bryan Will be Formally Notified of Nomination.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The event of the week in the domain of politics will be the notification of William J. Bryan of his nomination for the Presidency by the democratic national convention. The notification is to take place next Wednesday on the State Capitol grounds at Lincoln, Neb., and will be made the occasion for a big rally of democratic leaders from all sections of the country. John W. Kern, the candidate for Vice President, will be present, as will also nearly all of the members of the national committee.
Political events of lesser interest will be republican state conventions in Texas and Tennessee for the nomination of state officers. Texas democrats will meet in San Antonio to ratify the results of the recent primary.
The American battleship fleet under command of Admiral Sperry will spend the first four days of the week at Auckland, New Zealand, departing thence for Sydney, Australia. Recent advice from Auckland tell of elaborate arrangements made by the New Zealand officials and people for the entertainment of the officers and men of the fleet.
The Congress of Ecuador will convene in special session Monday. The session promises to be of particular importance, as it will have to provide funds to relieve the financial straits of the government.
Judge Taft plans to remain at Hot Springs during the week, receiving visitors and consulting with party leaders in regard to the campaign. At republican campaign headquarters in both New York and Chicago the real work of the fight which is to end in November will be on in full blast.

Other conventions of importance to meet during the week will be those of the American Federation of Catholic Societies at Boston, the National Association of Fire Insurance Agents at St. Paul, the Commercial Secretaries of the Southern States at Chattanooga, and the International Typographical Union at Boston.
Events of interest in the world of sports will be the start of the New York-San Francisco automobile run, the international automobile race over the Ardennes circuit in France, and the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Golfers on the Connecticut river at Springfield, Mass.
The Provincial election in Saskatchewan, which is to be held next Friday, is awaited with interest because of the fact that the result may be the straw which shows which way the wind will blow in the general elections in Canada this fall.

PRIMARY LAW GETS TRYOUT IN THE STATE OF ILLINOIS

Bitter Fights For Nominations For Governor
And For United States Senator.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 8.—Today the new primary law of Illinois is being given its initial test, the electors for the first time in this state picking the candidates to go on the party tickets by a direct vote, instead of leaving this task to delegates and conventions. Scattered over the state are some thing like 2,000 candidates for nominations on the various party tickets. For complexity and intensity the contest is without parallel in the history of Illinois. For weeks past every city, town and hamlet has echoed with the roar of factional battle and been swept by the breath of partisan campaign. Today the fight is sweeping to its close at the polls.
Four big contests of great import are involved in the political struggle. They are:
The bitter fight between Governor Charles S. Deneen and former Governor Richard Yates for the republican gubernatorial nomination.
The contest for United States senator, in which there are four candidates, with Senator A. J. Hopkins and Congressman George E. Foss foremost in the running.
The fight over the general assembly, in which the legislative voters' league is making a desperate effort to break up the senate combine and the house machine.
The contest in Cook county (Chicago), in which Congressman William Lorimer, through the instrumentality of the Yates campaign, is seeking to regain control of the republican party in Chicago.
In addition to these big sensational contests there are several others of considerable magnitude. The democrats are indulging in a merry bout over the governorship nomination. Their candidates are Colonel James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago, Douglas Patterson of Freeport, Adlai E. Stevenson of Bloomington, Charles F. Gunther of Chicago, Judge E. Kimbrough of Danville, and John P. McGorty of Chicago.
The prohibitionists, exultant over the outcome of the "wet" and "dry" fight last spring are straining every nerve to get a good representation in the legislature in order that they may hold the "balance of power" in that body. The united societies for local self-government are working energetically in the various districts with a view of electing representatives friendly to "personal liberty and home rule" principles.
The spectacular race for the toga of United States senator is one of the conspicuous features of the contest. The republicans have four candidates. Of this number Senator A. J. Hopkins and Congressman George E. Foss are running a neck and neck race. William E. Mason, former senator, has been making an active campaign throughout the state for over a year, but he is believed by the practical politicians to have been outdistanced by the other two. The fourth contestant is William G. Webster, who ran as an "unknown" two years ago and received 12,000 votes. The democratic candidates for the senatorship are Lawrence B. Stringer, candidate for governor four years ago, and Addison Blakely of Chicago.
The prohibitionists and socialists have state tickets in the field. Eugene W. Chubb of Chicago, who is also the presidential nominee, and Daniel R. Shoen of Peoria, are the prohibition aspirants for the gubernatorial nomination. James H. Fowler of Elgin, is unopposed for the head of the socialist ticket. George W. McCaskin of Rock Island is to be the candidate for governor on the independence party ticket.
But of all the contests to be decided by the primary the Deneen-Yates struggle for the governorship is most prominent. The so-called "machine" is opposed to Deneen. The latter is standing on his record at Springfield. The opposition picked upon Richard Yates as their standard bearer.
The cry of the Deneen forces is that if Yates should become governor Congressmen Lorimer would become the "boss" at Springfield. Lorimer, who was fiercely denounced by Yates two years ago, is again with the former governor. Lorimer, in fact, is one of the biggest bosses of the gubernatorial campaign. The "blind boss," as he is called, is one of the wonderful products of Chicago politics. A foreign immigrant and a butcher boy in the stock yards, he worked his way to the front until he became the recognized leader of the republican party in Cook county. He accumulated wealth and was sent to congress. A few years ago the opposition succeeded in downgrading him for the time being, but he speedily regained his feet and again returned to Congress. He is a bitter political foe of Governor Deneen and if the latter succeeds at the primary election today there will be little hope for Lorimer influence being felt at Springfield. If Yates, on the other hand, wins out against Deneen, Lorimer will be in a good way to realize his hope of becoming the biggest man in the republican party in Illinois.

BRITISH ROUNDLY SCORED BY JAMES E. SULLIVAN

Commissioner To Olympic Games Returns
Home And Tells What He Thinks
Of The English.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Montreal, Aug. 8.—The Canadian Olympic team on its arrival here on the steamship "Victorian" last night were given a hearty welcome by a big crowd of admirers. J. H. Crocker, manager of the team, sides with the English athletes and officials in their dispute with the American team. He says: "The Americans made themselves thoroughly disliked by other competitors, despised by the officials and English people. Most of their protests were of the most trivial nature."
Here's the Other Version.
New York, Aug. 8.—"If my 30 years' connection with amateur sport I never saw anything so raw as the manner in which Carpenter was disqualified in the 400-meter race. That a plan had been cooked up to do us out of that event even before the race was very apparent. If our athletic association should attempt to act with English visitors in the manner in which the English acted with us, the American press would drive us out of business in a jiffy."
What Mr. Halpin Says.
Mr. Halpin said: "We were turned down in all our protests and they have tried to outlaw us and probably succeeded but we got more than we expected and are all well satisfied."
"When an American flag was to be raised it would take 12 or 15 minutes for the English to get at work and get it up. When it was time for the raising of our own flag, up went their flag in a few seconds. When the Italian flag was raised right after the Marathon race there was a terrific outburst of applause. When a little later Hayes was carried around as victor, the applause was a very, very slight clapping of a few hundred hands. In the face of all this our boys went at their work in good spirit. It and with even more determination. If possible to win out than they would otherwise have had."
Commissioner Sullivan said:
"Great credit should be given our boys. The American people should, I think, present a loving cup to Hayes. He has proved himself the greatest long-distance runner this country has ever produced. I do not think it is entirely fair to criticize the whole British public for the unfair treatment which we received, but the treatment accorded us by the officials at the games was to any the least, rotten."
Four Obnoxious Officials.
"There were four English officials who were especially prominent in according this unfair treatment. They were Dr. Bulger, Mr. Andrews, Mr. Fisher and Mr. Davidson. Andrews, as chief clerk of the course during the Marathon race, showed himself up as a particularly unscrupulous manner. There are photographs to show just how he helped the Italian runner across the line when the Italian was unable to get across first by himself. Lord Desborough, who was the chief official, is a truly sportsmanlike fellow. However, he knows almost nothing about amateur athletics in the manner in which he should know them to hold as responsible a position as that which he had."
In my 30 years' connection with amateur sport I never saw anything so raw as the manner in which Carpenter was disqualified in the 400-meter race. That a plan had been cooked up to do us out of that event even before the race was very apparent. If our athletic association should attempt to act with English visitors in the manner in which the English acted with us, the American press would drive us out of business in a jiffy."

FARMERS' NATIONAL CONGRESS TO MEET

At Madison on September 24 For a Week's Session—Representatives From Entire Union Expected.
The Farmers' National Congress, a pioneer agricultural body organized to voice by resolution the wishes of the farmers of the country on questions related to agriculture, will hold its twenty-eighth annual session at Madison, September 24-30. The congress will be opened Thursday morning, the 24th, at eleven o'clock in the auditorium of Agricultural Hall at the University. There will be welcoming addresses by Governor Davidson and Mayor Schuchert of Madison and representatives of other notable men of the Congress and other notable men.
One of the features of this session of the Congress is the visiting and studying of the agricultural college connected with the university. Besides the study of the college several of the notable men connected with it will deliver addresses on topics of interest to the members of the Congress, such as "The Influence of the Babcock Test," "Grain Breeding," "Soil Drainage," and an illustrated lecture on horses. Another one of the valuable features will be the lecture on tuberculosis in cattle with the demonstrations that will be conducted in connection with the lecture.

Also, a large number of prominent speakers and men well known in the world of science have signified their intention of being present and addressing the Congress. These include several government and university professors, former presidents of the Congress, and men noted for what they have done for the science of farming. Some interesting facts regarding what the government is doing in regard to agriculture and what some of the particular branches are doing will be told.

For the benefit of the ladies who will attend the Congress with the delegates, one or two women speakers have been secured to discuss such aspects of farm life as appeal especially to the women and are at the same time interesting to the men. The ladies who will give these addresses are women who have had experience in the things they talk about and who have learned from experience on the lecture platform to present their thoughts in the clearest, most concise manner possible. They will discuss the important principles of use in the management of farm homes.
In the visit to the agricultural college, the various buildings will be inspected and the objects of interest noted. The agricultural hall, the laboratories, the library, and the various other departments will be visited. At the daily building the farmers will be shown the various processes in butter and cheese making and the pasteurization of milk and cream. The professors of the hall and their assistants will be on hand to answer questions and aid in every way to make the trip of interest to the visitors.

At former Congresses a desire for more discussion was expressed by some of the delegates but has not been allowed as the executive committee thought it unwise. But, owing to the fact that many of the delegates have been instructed on the point, the committee have decided to assign one session for discussion in which the roll of states will be called and a speaker selected by the delegates from his state will be given ten minutes to discuss any subject on the program or anything of interest to farmers throughout the country.

As is usual each year, the Congress will pass resolutions on important national agricultural topics, adopted after careful consideration by the resolutions committee. These resolutions will be presented during the first two days of the meeting.
The members of this body of men come from every state and territory in the United States and a number chosen at large, besides one from each agricultural college and agricultural organization. The work of the Congress consists itself of discussing and resolutions relating to broad national problems.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO PERRY F. BROWN

Oakland (Cal.) Tribune Publishes Picture and Appreciation of Former Janesville Man.
Republicans and municipalities are not always ungrateful. At any rate, Oakland, Cal., appreciates the efforts in its behalf which are being made by Perry F. Brown, son of E. Tracy Brown and former city engineer of Janesville. The Oakland Tribune of July 31 displays a double-column picture of Mr. Brown, quotes him, and pays tribute in a fashion that will be highly interesting and gratifying to his many local friends and well-wishers.
"Oakland's growth, the improvement of miles upon miles of her streets, of her water front, sewers and other public utilities, and the outlining of plans for the further improvement along such lines in the near future, has placed this city on a par with any of the municipal localities on the great Pacific seaboard. There is a great future in store for Oakland, and her citizens and officials are taking advantage of the opportunities offered."

"Such is the opinion of Perry F. Brown, a civil engineer attached to the office of City Engineer Turner, whose ability and conscientious attention to duty has assisted largely in making possible the conditions which make Oakland the great city of which he speaks."

"Perry F. Brown is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, having specialized in municipal engineering and finished his course in that institution in 1897. Since that time he has taken an active part in some of the great engineering problems of the day and now stands recognized as one of the foremost men in his profession on this coast."

"Immediately after graduation, Engineer Brown moved to Chicago, where he practiced civil engineering for a number of years. Later he was chosen as City Engineer of Janesville, Wis. When his term expired, he came westward, arriving in California in time to take charge of the construction of the Bear River dam for the Standard Electric Company. Upon coming to Oakland he was elected a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers."

"For the past few months Engineer Brown has given all of his attention to the construction of sewers in Oakland which are authorized under the bond issue; to the plans for the auxiliary salt water dam and to water front improvement. He drew the water from plans which are now before the City Council for adoption, they having been accepted by the council committee on wharves and water front."

"Engineer Brown, who but recently returned from a two-months' trip through the East and South, where numerous engineering works were visited, is now giving all his time to work looking toward a better and more beautiful city. He is exerting his energies toward the immediate construction of the rip-rap wall in the canyon between the Eighth street bridge and the Twelfth street dam preparatory to the dredging of Lake Merritt and the filling in of the marsh lands there for park purposes, this being considered by him one of the most important projects now under way. As soon as the rip-rap wall is constructed from rock to be shipped in from the city's quarry on Meadum street east of Broadway, he will proceed to the dredging of the lake and the pumping of mud onto the marsh lands which is to be topped with suitable soil."

"In the opinion of Engineer Brown, the work when completed will result in the finest section of park property in the entire city. With this opinion in view he will leave nothing undone toward accomplishing this end. He is heartily supported in his acts by the city administration and is daily in consultation with City Engineer Turner, whose reputation for efficiency and honesty of purpose is well known to the citizens of this city."

ROYCROFT PHILOSOPHY

By FRA ELBERTUS
WRITTEN IN A SINCERE AND KINDLY DESIRE TO HELP THE YOUNG WHO DO NOT KNOW, AND THE OLDER ONES WHO SOMETIMES FORGET.

Employees should be dignified in deportment, and not wrestle, hug, trip, jostle. These things all make an impression on customers, and a bad impression.

Keep away from gambling-rooms, pool-rooms and all places where you would not care for your employer to see you—or have you see him.

There are valuable positions always opening up in any progressive concern. Be ready to be promoted. Promotions go straight to the cheery, intelligent worker.

Don't throw waste paper and refuse on the floor—baskets are provided for rubbish. Be very careful never to leave oily waste in rubbish baskets or on the floor—put such in metal cans and see that the cover is on. Spontaneous combustion is a common cause of fire.

Above all in writing letters never show resentment or anger. The letter lives long after the cause of the offense is forgotten. To write to a distant friend a give-away on the house—a grand call-down—is an error that is paid for every day in tears. The number of such letters posted in company envelopes, that are misdirected and come back for the proprietor to read, is enormous. No one knows why these scandalous letters are usually directed to Chicago when the writer meant they should go to San Francisco. If you are to defame your employer, never do it on his time or stationery.

If asked for information, be sure you have it before you give it. Do not assume that the location or fact is so now because you once knew it so. Don't misdirect. Make your directions so clear that they will be a real help.

And for the same good reason keep your personal callers, personal letters, personal matters, thoughts and states of mind away from the post of duty.

Never use the office telephone as a gossiping convenience. If your duties are to 'phone say what is to be said quietly, intelligently and briefly. There are houses that are known by their courteous telephoning. Loss of temper at a 'phone gains nothing. Telephone courtesy is a great thing, as courtesy always is.

That Became a Fact and Pleases Many People.
A. H. Lewis, M. D., in a lengthy article in the columns of the American Journal of Health, says concerning hair: "It's deterioration is a constant source of worry to humanity, consequently bald people are readily deceived by 'fake' hair restoratives. The wish that a hair preparation will 'fill the bill' is rather to the fancy that it destroys the parasite that attacks the hair root, and prevents dandruff, falling hair and baldness." CLEVER CON MAN IS WORKING NEAR HERE

Cleaned Up $30 in One Day in Sharon With Circulating Library Game.

By posing as intending to start a circulating library if he can get enough subscribers, a clever sharper has been reaping gullible people from their money in this part of the state. He visits various homes and announces that if he can procure enough subscribers to make the idea pay he will start a local circulating library. Each person is asked to pay $1 as a membership fee. As each person, hoping to have a library started in the town, pays the dollar, the sharper presents the subscriber with a book as a receipt and earnest of his intention to start the library. After getting thirty or forty people to do this the con man disappears, leaving the books behind him. As the volumes presented to the subscribers are worth about 20 cents each he makes a nice racket. At Sharon in Winthrop county he obtained about thirty dollars in a single day in this manner.

GOOD FLIGHT BY CAPT. BALDWIN

DIRIGIBLE BALLOON READY FOR OFFICIAL TRIAL.

INVENTOR IS CONFIDENT

Pilots His Airship Over Five-Mile
Course and Makes a Skillful Landing—Curtiss Enthusiastic.

Washington, Aug. 8.—"We sighted
the enemy."

These words were shouted by Capt. Baldwin at Fort Myer Friday as he piloted his military balloon to the ground after making a successful flight of nearly five miles in an effort to demonstrate the usefulness of an airship in war times.

Saturday at five o'clock Capt. Baldwin will be ready for the first official speed trial.

Rising from the ground like a monster bird of the air, slowly but buoyantly, at 6:21 o'clock Friday evening the aerial ship, built for the United States army, was headed into the westerly wind by Capt. Baldwin. A complete circle was described, the balloon rising gradually to a height of 200 feet. Again pointing to the west, and attaining an estimated speed of 12 miles an hour, the ship voyaged in a direct line for nearly two miles, when the trip back was begun, with the course lying to "leeward" in the aerial sea.

Balls and Lands Well.
The wind was blowing at the rate of seven miles an hour and as the throttle was thrown open a little wider by Mr. Curtiss, who again operated the engine and the planes, the ship flew along at a speed of 18 or 20 miles an hour. There was no pitching or tossing as on Wednesday.

When the dirigible passed over the starting point it was about 600 feet in the air. Bringing his ship against the wind, Capt. Baldwin made a fine landing. Mr. Curtiss moved the planes downward and with the propeller revolving slowly the ship was brought down to 200 feet. As it drifted toward the tent which affords it protection, Capt. Baldwin shouted to Mr. Curtiss to increase the speed of the propellers so that the ship would clear the tent.

This pulled the ship too far, and as with a boat which has been swept past its pier by a current, the master brought his ship around again, coming slowly to earth. The balloon squad of the signal corps caught the frame as it descended, preventing it from crashing to the ground.

Both Men Enthusiastic.
With a broad smile, Capt. Baldwin announced that the flight was satisfactory in every respect. "Tomorrow," he said, "we will go after the money. Everything is just as we thought it was when we brought it here. The horizontal rudders worked perfectly and we made several maneuvers which showed that everything is in perfect condition. We are ready to make the official test any time."

Mr. Curtiss, usually calm and unexcited, bubbled over with enthusiasm. "She rode on an even keel throughout the trip," he said. "As an example of the ease with which the ship is controlled and to show what can be done with her while operating in the air at a height of 500 feet, I sketched a map of the country over which we traveled. I did what will be done in the future with airships."

Taft Attends Horse Show.
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Aug. 8.—Candidate Taft Friday drove 40 miles over the mountains of Virginia and West Virginia, lent himself as the chief feature of Greenbrier county's first horse show, and in the evening led the German at the famous old Greenbrier hotel, where he will remain until Monday. Mr. Taft made no speeches.

Attempt to Wreck Passenger Train.
Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 8.—An attempt to wreck the Northern Pacific passenger train was made a few miles southwest of this city. A section foreman found a huge pile of ties and railway iron on the track and flagged the train.

A False Theory.
"The proverb may be right," mused Nough, as he cut one last, long, lingering look before he went into the ark and shut the door, "but this does not seem to fit the category of events in the tide of men's lives, which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune."—Baltimore American.

PRESIDENT SAYS HE DID IT.

Assumes Entire Responsibility for Discharging Negro Soldiers.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 8.—President Roosevelt in a statement issued late Friday night made it clear that the entire responsibility was his for the issuance of the original order discharging the battalion of negro soldiers for alleged participation in the Brownsville (Tex.) rioting and the refusal to permit a suspension of that order.

The president was shown the interview which was had in Washington with Gen. Henry C. Corbin, U. S. A., retired, in which Gen. Corbin stated that no credit or blame in the matter rested with Mr. Taft. After reading the interview the president, through his assistant private secretary, Rudolph Forster, gave out the following:

"Gen. Corbin's statement is absolutely correct, and it was entirely proper that he should make it. The substance of the message from the president which he quoted was made public long ago. In the Brownsville matter the entire responsibility for issuing the original order and for declining to allow its suspension was the president's."

A word from Josh Wise.
"The funniest thing I ever heard was a stubborn man complain of a balky mule."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, August 8, 1868.—Galena, Ill.—The arrival of General Grant this afternoon was the occasion of a demonstration on the part of the citizens which in point of numbers and enthusiasm exceeded anything of the kind ever before witnessed here. He left Chicago at nine a. m.—the general superintendent's car being placed at his disposal—in company with his wife and children. All along the route the people assembled to welcome him and the cheerers sent the air as he approached and left each station. At Freeport a cannon stationed near the depot boomed forth a salute as the train neared the station, and while awaiting the arrival of the train for Galena the firing was kept up.

A number of prominent men of the city were favored with an introduction to the General, and others, not so fortunate, pressed their way through the crowd and shook him by the hand. Here as elsewhere along the road the cheering was deafening. The train at length arrived and was followed as far possible by those wishing to see the General.

The General was also welcomed at Warren.

Galena was reached at 6:30 and the night which opened to the view of those on board the train was truly grand. The depot is situated in a valley, on either side of which are lofty hills, the tops seeming almost to touch the clouds. Scattered all over these were crowds of people waving hats, and handkerchiefs and cheering as loudly as to completely drown the shrill whistle of the locomotive. The house tops were covered, while the space around the depot was one mass of human beings. A company of young men had secured a twelve pound howitzer, and stationed it on the top of a hill from which they fired a salute. The General and his family alighted from the cars and were escorted to their residence in carriages provided for that purpose. In the evening the Tanner club, two hundred strong, accompanied by citizens proceeded to his residence and tendered him a supper. In response to his appearance, Colonel J. A. Smith then advanced and made a speech of welcome to which Grant replied in a few words.

The Honest Friend.
We are all travelers in what John Bunyan calls the wilderness of this world, and the best that we find in our travels is an honest friend. He is a fortunate voyager who finds many. We travel, indeed, to find them. They are the end and reward of life.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us
Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 600 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. W. Johnson, of 127 Pearl St., Janesville, Wis., says:

"For a long time I had a severe pain in my back that must have been due to some disorders of the kidneys. It was aching constantly and became so severe at times that I was almost prostrated. Numerous remedies that I tried, failed to help me and finally I began using Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at The People's Drug Store. After using this remedy for a short time I found a complete cure, and the trouble has not returned."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT

A contributor to a July magazine has the following to say about a popular ambition:

"Nothing so grows upon a man as the notion that he has something coming to him from the government. Drug clerks, brakemen, schoolteachers, ministers temporarily unemployed, adventurers of all sorts—all rushed for government land, not for the purpose of developing it, but to get the value there was in it above the government's fixed charge—to cash in their right."

A horde of land speculators followed in their footsteps, these "settlers" would soon have had to sell. "Still more in evidence were the agents of loan companies seeking farm mortgages for their eastern investors. As a matter of fact these loan companies often outbid the speculators; they habitually loaned six hundred, eight hundred, or one thousand dollars on these farms that were so easily acquired from the government at the fixed price of two hundred dollars—loaned it to these pseudo-farmers who had never milked a cow and never expected to.

"The writer has in mind an investigation (one of many) which he made in 1889 while land inspector for a loan company. Forty-one of these newly acquired 'homesteads' in central Nebraska were examined, all previously mortgaged to the company; of these, three were occupied by the original owners, three by migratory squatters, and thirty-five were wholly abandoned. "These thirty-eight missing mortgagors had not tried to farm the land, and failed; they had simply converted their 'right' into the loan company's cash, and vanished. What wonder that there came a mournful day of reckoning in the farm mortgage business?"

Twenty-five years ago, when the Chicago & North-Western railroad extended its line west to the Missouri river, the company had a land grant to the Minnesota line, securing every other section, adjoining the right of way, for 150 miles or more.

Prospective settlers by the thousand rushed into South Dakota, in advance of the road, and in less than a year every foot of the land, within five miles of the track, was covered with some kind of a claim.

Not one in ten of these land-grabbers had any notion of ever becoming citizens of the new state. But few of them were farmers, and after the claim shanty was built, and a few acres of sod turned over, they were ready to sell out. They were unable to do except through some loan shark.

These enterprising promoters did a thriving business, for the high rate of interest offered was very attractive to eastern capital, and within a short time the country was plastered with mortgages for three times the amount the land was worth.

Ten years of drought followed and the land that had been subdued went back, while interest accumulated, and taxes increased. The men who started out to get something for nothing succeeded, but the men who put up the money were the losers.

The land today is a fertile prairie, for it finally came into the possession of practical farmers, and, with cultivation, the rainfall increased, until the season became normal.

The mania for owning a piece of wild prairie land, is a popular mania. When the Oklahoma reservations were thrown open, a great army of people, 100,000 or more, made a pilgrimage to be present at one of Uncle Sam's lottery drawings. If the land had been parcelled out in acre lots, the supply would have been insufficient.

A few secured prizes, but the great majority were disappointed and would have been better off had they stood at home and invested their money in a gold brick, even if the government stamp were lacking.

Just why the United States government should engage in these lottery schemes, is a problem not easily solved. It encourages speculation which promises loss in reward than the old Louisiana lottery, and is equally demoralizing, when the drawings are on. The people are not suffering for this kind of encouragement, for the desire to get something for nothing is well developed.

"The nation is on the eve of a national campaign and the democratic party, which has long been out, and possessed of a desire to get in, promises in its platform all sorts of impossible and impractical things. Someone in describing it recently called it a 'plain humbug,' said:

"Whatever creed it is the Denver platform promulgated, it certainly is not democratic doctrine. It preaches the centralization of power, and not the decentralization of power, as Jefferson, Jackson or Tilden. It is a crazy-quilt to catch votes by declaring for almost everything—the possible and the impossible. It embodies all the many 'isms' which the last few years have brought to the surface. As clapping it is as complete as it could be made. "It is a humbug like the holy Roman empire, under which name the old Germany, not the Germany created by Bismarck, went—for it was neither holy nor Roman.

"It is a platform that contains something for the republicans, something for the populists, something for the socialists, something for the Hearst crowd and but very little for the democrats. This mixture composition is a doctrine to suit the donkey.

"Especially does the railroad program fit the tenets of the old democracy as does the flat fit the eye. The platform demands that congress, by its right to exercise complete control over interstate commerce, pass laws for the enlargement of the powers of the interstate commission so that it can have the initiative regarding rates to be charged for freight, inspect all schedules before they are filed and that all agreements and classifications be subject to its approval or rejection. "Not only would this necessitate a small army of employees and create a veritable bureaucracy such as this country has never seen before, but also place the railroads almost entirely under the control of the interstate commission. The responsible heads of the railroads representing the shareholders would become mere dummies. Their power would be reduced to a minimum.

"Under such stringent laws the government would actually own the railroads without paying for them. Properties valued at over $15,000,000,000 would be taken out of the hands of the real owners and placed at the mercy of irresponsible politicians. This would almost mean confiscation, spoliation, expropriation, or some similar high-handed method by which might be made to parade in the clothes of right. This railroad policy alone outside of the other ridiculous planks of the platform eclipses Roosevelt's advocacy of federal control."

The voters of the country possess too much common sense to be influenced by any such claptrap. Mr. Bryan proposed, eight years ago, to furnish the people with cheap money, and the "something for nothing" doctrine captured more than 6,000,000 votes.

This year the same Bryan promises a lot of impossibilities which are strongly flavored with socialism, but he and his party will be disappointed, for the rank and file of the American people have discovered that investments are necessary to results.

The Milwaukee boy's father who chained him in a cellar for twenty-four hours with a bone for food should be given a taste of the same medicine, only it should be for longer than twenty-four hours.

Senator Stephenson's campaign continues but the talk of the money barrel is not heard so much since Hutton and Cook both began tipping their money bags into the political sausage grinder.

Say, but that echo from Fairview, Nebraska, where the campaign fund question is being discussed is something that will not be published when the list of contributors is made public.

It is not strange that there are two candidates for lieutenant governor and that one of them is named Strange. Stranger things than this will happen before the campaign is over.

This afternoon the grand finale in the Illinois primary travesty is to be played out and Deussen or Yates will be chosen as the republican candidate for Governor.

Now they blame poor Princess Alice Longworth for having settled a strike with five dollar bills out west.

Chicago has another murder mystery that promises to be horrible in detail.

So Hurry Thaw is now a bankrupt as well as a criminal insane patient.

PRESS COMMENT.

Torso and Trite

Shelbygan Journal: Fond du Lac is worried because Lake Winnebago is covered with seum. Skim it.

Persecution of Hearst

Springfield Union: Frankly admitting that he does not expect success for his ticket, Mr. Hearst reveals even greater perspicacity by predicting defeat for the democratic ticket.

Choice but Opinionated

Whitewater Register: Eugene W. Chaffin, prohibition candidate for president, is a choice character, but his campaign is in danger of harming the temperance cause. Eugene is terribly radical and is as opinionated as an enraged elephant.

Taft the Boss Jollier

El Paso Herald: Taft has only to stay at his Springs a few weeks longer or to have the electoral vote of Virginia assured to him. He is a jollier of the true sunshine school. A wiser choice to help the nation to recover its equilibrium could not have been made.

Why Should He Regret It?

La Crosse Tribune: "Lafe" Young, whose main emotion is hostility to Governor Cummins, and who defeated the plan to nominate Cummins for the vice-presidency, must now recall that blunder with regret. How often does the greed of the politician overstep itself?

Grosscup Easily Proven Wrong

Superior Telegram: "You can't assess a fine for more than the offending property is worth," says Judge Grosscup. But the Detroit News remarks that the other day a dog that was not worth 10 cents, bite, mow, bark and all, drew one of $25 against its owner for biting a boy. In the case at issue the Standard Oil company "owned the dog."

Fondly Liked That "Scout"

Fond du Lac Reporter: The immediate popularity of the gasoline motor car which the North-Western road tried to establish between Fond du Lac and Janesville was so great that the car could not handle the business and a regular train was substituted. This indicates that a regular motor car service run hourly would be a paying proposition as a means of handling local traffic on the railroads. It is not impossible that in the not very distant future local passengers will be cared for in this way and the number of through trains cut down.

Encyclopedic Loyalty

Everybody's Magazine: One Fourth of July night in London, the Empire Music Hall advertised special attractions to American visitors. All over the auditorium the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes unfolded one another, and at the interludes were heard "Yankee Doodle" and "Hail, Columbia," while a quartet sang "Gloves upon the Swanee River." Altogether an occasion to swell the heart of the exiled patriot. Then came the turn of the human encyclopedia, who advanced to the front of the stage and announced himself ready to answer, sight unseen, all questions the audience might propound. A volley of inquiries was fired at him, and they were in general concerned with the distance of the earth from Mars, the number of bones in the human skeleton, or square miles in the British empire, and other equally important facts. There was a brief pause, in which an American stood up. "What great event took place July 4, 1776?" he propounded in a loud, glad voice. The human encyclopedia glared at him. "The independent you speak of, sir, was a infamous outrage."

Dan on "Joyriding"

Milwaukee Sentinel: Baltimore is one of the most conservative cities in the United States. Therefore, when the authorities of that sober metropolis sit up and take notice the more gay and festive cities of this nation may well consider the action resolved on.

The president of the police board of Baltimore bears the portentous name of Col. Sherlock Swann. This in itself ought to be sufficient to strike terror to the hearts of evil-doers. With memories of Holmes and Watson, investigators of high or low degree might be supposed to possess sufficient sense to give a wide berth to a town which has a chief copper who rejoices in the name of Sherlock.

Col. Swann has broken into the public prints by announcing his determination to break up the practice of chauffeurs clandestinely taking out cars at night after the owners have dismissed them. This pastime has become known as "joyriding," and is believed to be responsible for the greater portion of reckless driving between midnight and daylight.

The colored contraband interestingly to the solution of the scorching problem. He says that any chauffeur who takes out the car of his employer without the knowledge and consent of the owner may be fined and even imprisoned. He has determined to scrutinize cars containing merry parties at early hours of the morning, will obtain the number of the license and will endeavor to ascertain whether or not the owner knows what use is being made of his property.

Motor cycle sleuths have been placed upon the trail, and Col. Swann is confident that with their know speed of forty-five miles an hour he will be able to break up "joyriding."

Bronson Howard and His Work

Chicago Record-Herald: American playwrights have, however, done some excellent work, even if they can lay no claim to immortality or even lasting fame and influence. Who have not produced a Mollers, an Ibsen, a Hauptmann, but many second-rate men in Europe whose plays are performed here with success are too often exalted above Americans of far greater ability and force. The tendency has long been to depreciate native talent in music, in the drama, in the other arts, and prefer the foreign, just because it is foreign. That we are growing up and learning to do justice to American achievements even in the artistic field.

Bronson Howard's plays are not, perhaps, likely to become classics, but some of them possess abundant merit even from the point of view of technique, and they deal effectively, honestly and legitimately with certain salient aspects of American life. They are clean, wholesome and interesting. Mr. Howard was never vulgar in his comedy and never commercial in his aim. He was thoroughly American and loved American virtues. He had high dramatic ideals, and he won popularity without pandering to crude or low tastes. His "Apostasy" is still the best play of its type, though we have developed new classes of "climbers" and new conditions of social life. His "Kate," written in 1906, was an extremely interesting and progressive experiment, meant more for the library than for the stage. It was hailed as a significant departure by discriminating and competent critics.

There will be an "American drama" before long, and its proud "creators" will recognize their debt of gratitude and admiration to Bronson Howard and his disciples and successors.

HOW THE GIRLS PROPOSE.

The leap year question, "Shall the girls propose?" is again up for discussion.

Those who advocate the right of feminine initiative say:

"There is no good reason why man should have the exclusive privilege of taking the first step. It is simply a MATTER OF CUSTOM. And the custom is a relic of the days when women did not amount to much and were given little to say, being in effect the slaves of men.

On the other hand, say the opponents of a change:

"To make woman the prime mover in marriage proposals is to destroy the true conception of the family. Man is the HEAD OF THE FAMILY, say these conservatives. He SUPPORTS the family. Therefore it is his peculiar province to make the first advance in the founding of the family.

And the others retort:

"It is not always true that the man is the real head and support of the family. And, if it were true, it does not follow that woman is less interested in the family and the home. The woman takes home and family the more seriously. To MAN marriage is an EPISODE; to the WOMAN it is EVERYTHING.

And there you are. However, as a matter of fact—Women usually DO propose.

They may do it as Pepella in "The Courtship of Miles Standish" did it. They may say, "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?"

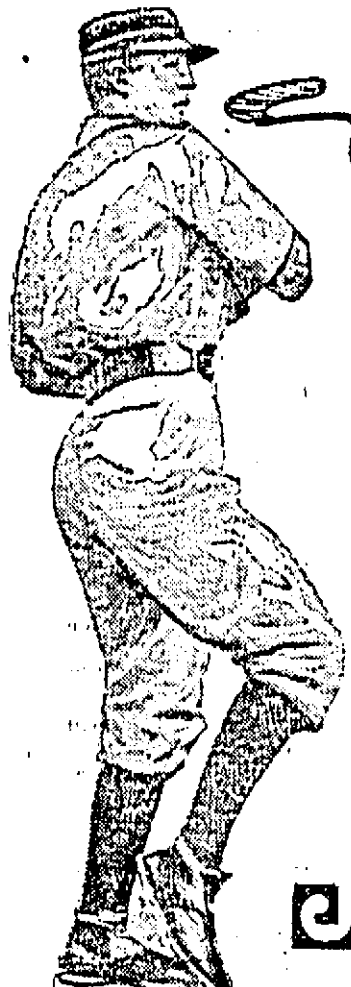

Or as Patti did. When the lover of the great prima donna said to her, "All Paris says we are engaged," she replied: "Well, why not? I am sure I should be happy."

In most cases, while the girl may not actually propose in WORDS she proposes in ACTIONS. And actions speak louder than words.

Few young men will care to propose who have not received some form of real encouragement, some assurance of the acceptance of their suit. And the bright girl knows very well how to give the faint assurance IN ADVANCE of the formal engagement.

Let no one worry about the lack of woman's opportunity or her ability to use her opportunity. Given the RIGHT MAN, the girl will find the way.

The girl knows how to propose. She does it by making the man propose. And she does it without surrendering her maiden modesty.

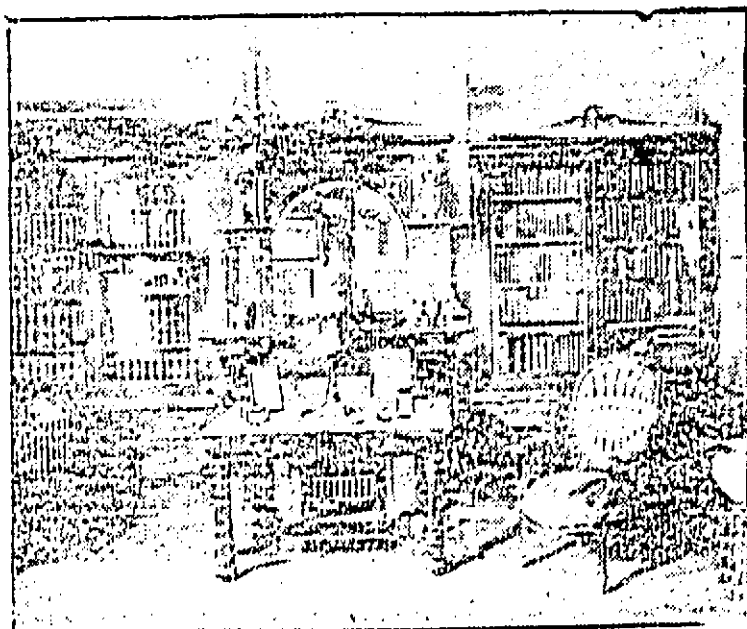

GEORGE H. WILTSE

The New York Nationals have a remarkable pitcher in George Wiltse. His performance on July 4 came near establishing a record in pitching annals. He did not allow the Phillies a hit or run in the nine innings of this record game. The only member of the Phillies to reach first base in this memorable game was one man, whom, it is claimed, was fairly struck out before hit by a pitched ball. He did not score.

He Proved His Courage.

A young lady of our town told her sweetheart she wouldn't marry him until he had done something brave. He started to court the girl next door, and she sent word the second night that he was the bravest man she had ever met.—Seneca Enterprise-Gazette.

Man Must Think to Live.

The decay of any real power of thinking is an adequate explanation of a deal of the early mortality of prosperous middle life. The business man of 40 is often content to live in the mere practice, as a matter of habit, of what he has acquired. He eats and drinks too much, and the higher brain centers waste for want of exercise. He dies from stupidity; there is nothing left to keep him alive.—London Lancet.

SLACK MINE HAD AN EXPLOSION TUESDAY

Two Men Injured by Explosion in Mine in Which Local Men are Interested.

An explosion took place at the Slack mine, 1 1/2 miles Northeast of Milton Tuesday afternoon about 4 o'clock, in which two men were seriously injured. Tom Wilkinson, the foreman, and Grant Holland had loaded two drill holes and were priming the third when the cap exploded tearing away two fingers and a portion of Wilkinson's left hand. Also a severe cut below the eye that required several stitches. Holland was badly injured and cut on one leg and will be kept up for several months. Sixteen miners were at work in the same breast of the mine when the explosion took place, but fortunately all the others escaped injury. Clay Ludlum, was within two feet of the injured men when the explosion occurred. He received a blow on the arm from a flying rock, but nothing serious. Among the local stockholders in the Slack mine are: James Harris, president of the company, F. H. Haneck, vice president, Adam Holt, William Hager, William Sherer, Fred Clemens, Charles Myers, Frank Fildel, H. S. Griffin, James Fildel and John P. Sweeney.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Heavy Oat Crop: Farmers in this vicinity are most of them busy thrashing their oats, rye and barley. The oat crop this year is one of the heaviest ever had in this region, weighing from one hundred to one hundred and ten pounds to the bushel. Only a little hay is coming into the market at present as the farmers are very busy and there is no place to keep it, everybody having nearly as much as they need.

No Local Eagles at Seattle: Judging from present indications, Janesville will not be represented at the national convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, which is to be held in Seattle from August 11 to 15. C. Nichols, president of the local order and one of the state officers expected to attend and $250 was appropriated for the purpose, but at the last moment he has found it impossible to do so. The situation is such that he, only is qualified as a delegate and no alternate can be sent.

This is an Anniversary: This is the anniversary of a visitation which cost the city of Janesville several thousands of dollars. Two years ago, today, occurred the big rainstorm, which lasted five hours and washed out a section of Washington street as large as the Iowa block. By way of contrast, all the landscape is dry as a bone at the present writing and has been so for several weeks.

POLICE ARE AFTER MONTEREY ROUGHS

Seventeen Names Secured Last Night and Complaint will be Made.

Last evening a crowd of youths gathered in front of Rosling's store at Monterey, became too noisy and started a general rough house among themselves. The police were called and later two of the crowd were picked up. The names of seventeen boys were secured and while no warrants have been asked for as yet, some will be unless the young men reform.

She was crying bitterly and after going a short distance stopped and leaned against the railing. A local bartender escorted the woman to the office of Dr. Woods, where she was found to be in an extremely nervous condition.

Last evening Officer John Brown and Sam Brown, were called to the Murphy home on Pleasant street. Miss Murphy, who had at one time been the inmate of an asylum for the insane, had been acting strangely and her relatives believe her mind to be still unbalanced. She has been living at the home of her brother Richard Murphy for some time past.

She will probably be examined and again committed to an institution.

MERCHANTS PLAN A DOLLAR BARGAIN DAY

Novel Plan Adopted for Stimulating Business During the Heated Season.

Merchants of Janesville have hit upon a very novel idea for stimulating business during the hot month of August. They have decided to get together and each one offer some remarkably bargain, or bargains for the one day each week. These bargains are all to be offered for the one price, viz $1.00 and each merchant has promised to set forth for the one day only, the best $1.00 bargain in the store. It comes to us from those who are posted that the failure or success of the plan depends on the bargains offered and therefore each merchant will do his best to outwit his competitor. A certain day is to be set aside for the bargain day. It is to be called the $1.00 bargain day. All these trade are to be representative of the dry goods merchants offering special $1.00 bargains in different specialties, the shoe dealers, the clothing and furnishings, the feed store men have entered into the spirit of the day and also promise big $1.00 bargains, so that the day will offer every person in Rock County an opportunity to spend a dollar and make it go further than is ordinarily expected. The date of the big $1.00 bargain day is not known, but the plan is being carried out vigorously and it is promised that on this day more than any day in the history of Rock County will the people be given better values than is offered. The people are to be given real big bargains each one aggregating $1.00 and the merchants have stated that no item is to be offered but what is a real big bargain. This is very creditable of the merchants, and it shows a live energetic tendency to give the people more for their money. The fact that all of the best merchants have gone into the plan with a wholesome willingness to boost business for Janesville in itself is a worthy act, and nothing but success can be the outcome if the merchants offer what they claim they will. Now it is up to the people to decide, watch for further announcements Monday.

DECKER FIRE LOSS

WILL TOTAL $35,000

Insurance Adjusters Are Still Figuring the Loss—Tobacco Bought by Mayor.

From the figuring done so far by the insurance adjusters on the Decker property which was burned a week ago yesterday, the entire loss will total $35,000. To offset this loss there is worth of insurance on the entire burning property including the tobacco, buildings, furniture and hay. The final report of the adjusters has not been made as yet as the insurance men are still figuring on the loss.

Of the tobacco that was burned five hundred and fifty cases belonged to the Society of Equity and the rest of it, about fifty cases, belonged to Mr. Decker. The loss on the tobacco was about thirty thousand dollars and of this about half was covered by insurance. The value of the buildings, the barn and the home were about four thousand five hundred dollars with about two thousand five hundred dollars in insurance on them. The furniture and hay were insured for six hundred dollars.

The tobacco that was left unburned by the fire has been bought by S. B. Heddes and is being loaded into cases and taken to his warehouse in Spring Brook where it will be dried and stored and probably sold for low grades. It is expected that there may be about ten thousand pounds that may be used.

FIERCE STORM IN BOSTON

ONE HOUR OF CLOUDBURSTS
AND CYCLONIC WIND.Basements Flooded and Traffic Suspended—Knights of Pythias Drenched in Their Camp.Boston, Aug. 8.—From a meteorological standpoint Friday was "black Friday" in Boston, the city being visited in the afternoon by the heaviest electrical disturbance in years.The storm lasted for nearly an hour, during which time the rain gauge at the United States weather bureau registered a fall of 1.65 inches.
The storm was a combination of cyclones and cloudbursts, with an accompanied of almost incessant thunder and lightning. Shortly after two o'clock the sky suddenly became as dark as would ordinarily be the case in the late evening, while whirling black clouds and the revolutions of the weather vane indicated that the disturbance was of cyclonic nature. All over the city lamps were lighted, and the street lights were turned on. Then the rain came, a little sprinkle at first, and then suddenly a deluge. The streets were like rivers, running water from curb to curb, while cross walks were practically impassable and traffic was suspended.Heavy damages resulted from the flooding of basements in the downtown sections of the city. In some of the newspaper offices on Washington street there was two feet of water in the press rooms.Some 1,500 members of the uniform rank, Knights of Pythias, all that remained of the great host which had been in camp on Franklin field, received a thorough drenching. Most of them had their effects packed in trunks and valises, preparatory to breaking camp, long before the tempest broke. The canvas tents, however, could not resist the torrents of water that beat upon them and within a few minutes after the cloudburst struck the camp everything was flooded. Those who suffered most were the detachments from Maine, West Virginia, Indiana, Maryland and the District of Columbia.Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Two persons were killed and two others seriously injured by lightning during a severe electrical storm that swept over eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey
Friday, causing much havoc.

NORTH SPRING VALLEY

North Spring Valley, Aug. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd of Harmony are rejoicing over the arrival of twin girls at their home. Their friends have extended congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Owen of Foot-ville were Sunday evening callers at the home of Mrs. M. Harper.

Estelene Linton had the misfortune to lose a valuable young horse last week.
Ross Heath helped M. J. Harper in haymaking last week.

Paul Hagemann injured his hand quite badly, while repairing a grain blender.

The many friends of Frank Owen of Footville were "pained to hear of his sudden death in the depot at Janesville. Mr. Owen was frequently here and his kind and gentlemanly ways won friends on all occasions.
The sympathy of all is extended to the family in their hour of sorrow.
Many from here attended the funeral.

Escutcheon of Grief.

No one who sees a common or hillside covered with gorse in full flower can fail to appreciate its beauty, and we can well understand such plant lovers as Linnaeus and Willdenow going into ecstasies of delight, as they are reported to have done, when such a sight first burst on their view after being acquainted with the plant from botanical material only.

A Hint to Girls.

Girls before 18 should never wear precious stones, unless it be one handsome ring. When school days are over and long skirts are donned they may wear what jewels they see fit, providing they do not deck themselves in a conspicuous way.

Why Men Refuse to Teach.

The teacher may have a personality that commands respect in spite of his calling, but outside of his especial work he is regarded by business men slightingly, as an imprudent visionary.—Educational Review.

Thomas L. Hagen, Independence party's nominee for president, with Mrs. Hagen, leaving Chicago after receiving first honor from Hearst's new party. Hagen holds from Massachusetts and last campaign ran for governor in the Bay state on the Independence party ticket. He pulled more votes than the democratic nominee.
It was largely this record which made him a prominent presidential possibility in Hearst's campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Hagen are both plain common folk, but both of marked talent, strength, ability and popularity.

Metaphysics.

A Scottish blacksmith, being asked the meaning of metaphysics, replied:
"When the party who listens disagrees what the party who speaks means; and when the party who speaks disagrees what he means himself—that's metaphysics."

The Sympathy of Friendship.

It is a tribute to feel and say of another, I need never meet, or speak, or write to him; we need not re-enforce ourselves or send tokens of remembrance; I rely on him as on myself; if he did this or that, I know it was right.—Ralph Waldo Emerson.
